Dear diary,
When I got up today at 6'o clock, it seemed to be like any other day. But at 9'o clock, I got a call from my friend that I topped my class in the annual examination. I could not believe my ears. At 12'o clock,

Our family went to the cinema. Since my god dad got his salary we bought a lot of snacks. To celebrate me getting topped, at 5:00pm my mom got me a blueberry cake. I received a mail from my uncle and he gave me a ps 5. To end the day, I went shopping with my family. And I thought, will there ever be a day like this again?

When I woke up today, it seemed like usual. But after a little while the school got cancelled. I was feeling good, but after a while the school told that there are online classes. I had no wifi so I had to attend it with mobile data. After online classes, I had no internet to play games with. I went to shopping with my mom, but the worst possible case happened. I got lost, I looked for an whole 10 minutes and finally found her. The rest of the went as usual. The day felt like a rollercoaster.

Life without newspapers

Newspapers have become an essential part of our daily life. We cannot live without them. A newspaper in a modern society has a great social and educative value. It satisfies different types of people. A business man reads a newspaper to know the market trends, a book reader wants to know about the latest arrivals, a sportsman wants to know a great deal about sports and a farmer is eager to know the weather. A newspaper contains all these news and therefore it is read by everyone. But sometimes some newspapers present the negative side of a thing.

They even publish false reports. These are the major drawbacks of newspapers.
